

CLEVELAND'S Superior Baking Powder

may cost a little more per can, but it insures perfect, wholesome food. In fact, it is more economical in the end, because it goes further in leavening and never spoils the food.

Cleveland's Baking Powder used always in making the biscuit and cake saves both health and money.

CLEVELAND BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

You cannot, if you value good health, afford to use cheap, low-grade, alum baking powders. They are apt to spoil the food; they do endanger the health. All physicians will tell you that alum in food is poisonous.

WAS WALKER LAID ON TRACK?

CORONER'S JURY UNABLE TO DECIDE THAT FACT.

Testimony Was to the Effect That from the Way the Body Lay Between the Rails It Must Have Been There When Run Down—Verdict Was to the Effect That Walker Came to His Death in a Manner Unknown to the Jury.

The mystery surrounding the death of Claude Walker, who was found on the Lackawanna railroad a week ago yesterday morning, still remains unsolved. The testimony adduced at the coroner's inquest last night only tended to deepen the mystery as to how the boy really met death. The jury rendered a verdict that Walker came to his death in some unknown manner.

The first witness called was Mrs. Margaret Pearl Clark, a widow, residing at 107 Marion street, with whom Walker boarded. She testified that the last she saw of him was on Sunday night, October 21, between 9 and 10 o'clock, when he was sitting in her bedroom. He had been attending to his wants all day during a temporary illness.

Walker then told her he would fix the fire and lock the house for the night, and she fell asleep. In the morning her daughter went to the young man's room to awaken him, but he was not there. The first intimation of his death was when she read in the papers a description of the clothing worn by the man found dead, which tallied with the clothing worn by Walker.

BROWN'S TESTIMONY.

Eugene Brown, who boards with Mrs. Clark, was next sworn. His testimony was to the effect that he left Walker sitting in Mrs. Clark's room at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening, when he (Brown) retired, and that was the last he saw of him. He first heard of the young man's death while riding home in a street car, when his attention was called to the story in the newspaper.

He took the paper to Mrs. Clark and she read the description of the clothing, and believing Walker to be the dead man, requested him to go to North Scranton to view the remains. Brown stated that Walker had on various occasions borrowed tools in the vicinity of the Cayuga mine during the past month, and usually went up and down from Nicholson in that way.

Charles Noack, constable of the Thirteenth ward, testified that he did not know of any warrant ever having been issued for Walker's arrest. Brown was fearful that Walker would get into trouble over the misappropriation of some milk bottles belonging to a North Scranton dealer, and asked Noack to call at the boarding house and secure him a hit.

The constable called there, but no one was in, and further than that he did not know any thing about the case. The witness did not know Walker and didn't remember of ever having seen him. He was only slightly acquainted with Brown. Did not know of any warrant being issued for Walker's arrest.

REV. MR. FOSTER'S TESTIMONY.

The last witness called was Rev. L. H. Foster, assistant pastor of the Green Ridge Presbyterian church. His testimony was given in a clear manner. He was the hunter who found the mangled remains on the railroad tracks. He left his home at 2:45 o'clock to go on a hunting trip to Dalton, and after being refused a ride on a train, started to walk.

Between the West Lackawanna avenue crossing and the Swedland street bridge he met two men on their way to work. Beyond that, he met a single man, and further up, two more men. The latter two were not dressed in the garb of railroaders. Suddenly he came across the dead body of Walker on the north-bound track, a few minutes after a train had passed up.

It was then 4:45 o'clock and quite dark. As quickly as possible, he notified the switchman and trainmen in the yard at that point, and they went back to where the body lay and removed it from the tracks.

the tracks in the center of the road-bed, in a position which was quite unusual for his hand and leg to be cut off, but Rev. Foster stated that in his judgment it was a very peculiar position for a man to lay after falling from a train.

A FACT NOT CLEAR.

The jury were convinced from the way the boy's leg and hand were cut that he had been run over, but how he managed to get his skull fractured is not yet made clear. The verdict rendered was as follows: "We, the jury empaneled in this case, according to the evidence adduced find that Claude Walker came to his death on the Lackawanna railroad in some manner unknown to the jury."

In all probability the case will be further investigated by County Detective Leysen.

LETTER FROM GEHLE.

Wrestler Dwyer's Opponent Will Arrive Here Tomorrow.

The following letter was yesterday received at The Tribune office from Frank Gehle, of Piquette, O., in which he announces that he will arrive in the city tomorrow. The letter follows: "I shall leave here on Tuesday and arrive some time Wednesday in Scranton. My health and condition are all that can be desired, and Mr. Dwyer will testify to that after the match. I can only hope he is in good condition in regard to his health also."

Admission to the match between Gehle and M. J. Dwyer, which will take place Thursday night at the Bicycle club, will not be confined to members and their friends, as is generally supposed, but will be public.

PARK PLACE.

The Baptist church choir of Providence will meet at Mrs. Arthur G. Jackson's, 901 Wood street, tonight.

A. R. Sholder, of Susquehanna county, spent a few days last week with Rev. G. C. Lyman, of the Park Place Methodist Episcopal church.

Prof. Sanderson, of Schenectady, N. Y., who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson,

THE manufacturers of the Columbia Bicycle have scored another decisive victory. The Grand Prix, the highest possible honor for excellence, has been awarded to the Columbia Bicycle over all other American makes exhibited at the Paris Exposition. By way of celebrating this event the Pope Manufacturing Company have made reductions in the prices of their machines and from now until further notice

1900 Models Will Be Sold at the following Prices

- Columbia—1900 Model, Nos. 65 and 66, Chainless Bicycles, reduced from $75.00 to $60.00
- Columbia—1900 Models, Nos. 63 and 64, Chain Bicycles, reduced from $50.00 to $40.00
- Columbia—1899 Model, No. 60, Chainless Bicycles, reduced from $60.00 to $40.00
- Hartfords—Patterns Nos. 23 and 24, Chain Bicycles, reduced from $35.00 to $30.00

The great reduction in the price of these prize winning bicycles, together with the ideal bicycle weather we are now enjoying, bespeaks an unprecedented sale for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles. We don't expect our stock to stay with us very long under the new list of prices. So you had better come while the variety is here.
